- National Register of Historic places.
- "Once again we have selected High Hampton as one of America's 50 Favorite Family Resorts...High up on North Carolina's Blue Ridge Mountains, the antebellum home of a Civil War general serves as the centerpiece for this genteel resort. Here old-fashioned elegance still rules the day (jackets and ties are required at the evening meal)." -Better Homes & Gardens
- "High Hampton is 3600 feet high on a scenic estate in the Blue Ridge Mountains—quiet, peaceful, tradition-laden...The par-71 course is a scenic favorite with mountain views on every hole and bent grass greens. At High Hampton, you are away from the crowds, and you might be able to hear the keening of a mountain hawk soaring overhead." -Golf Magazine
- "Set on a family estate 3,600 feet high in the Cashiers Valley of the Blue Ridge Mountains, High Hampton offers stunning panoramas of the surrounding forests, lakes, and mountains from almost every hole. It's a short course, but so scenic and well-designed that it's truly enjoyable for all. Most interesting is the 150-yard, par-3 No. 8, which plays to an island green and provides no margin for error. The greens are bent grass and superb. Though there are more difficult courses you can play, few are as beautiful." -The American Golfer's Guide
- "A rustic resort, High Hampton Inn clings to tradition. Located in the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina, this Inn & Country Club is one of the last major resorts to cling to its old ways. The Inn has a native chestnut bark exterior...rocking chairs...a huge stone chimney with fireplaces on four sides...homey dishes...croquet...golf, tennis, hiking, and fishing. Ferns, wild azaleas, mountain laurel and rhododendron flourish. Bird watchers report having sighted more than 150 different species. [At night] I hear my neighbors' low conversation, then only the waterfall." -The New York Times
- "It's a genuinely real, family-oriented place that peels away all the superficial things we get caught up in. When we're there, we eat in the dining room, swim in the lake, go out in canoes, hike, fish, have tea in the afternoon and sit on the porch and talk. It's not flashy or swanky and not for everybody, but if you like the simple joys in life, it's very special." -The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

- “Unpretentious, wholesome, a breath of fresh air from the clutter and stress of modern living...High Hampton Inn offers the over stimulated families of today a chance to reconnect.” -Nashville Lifestyles
